Short Description

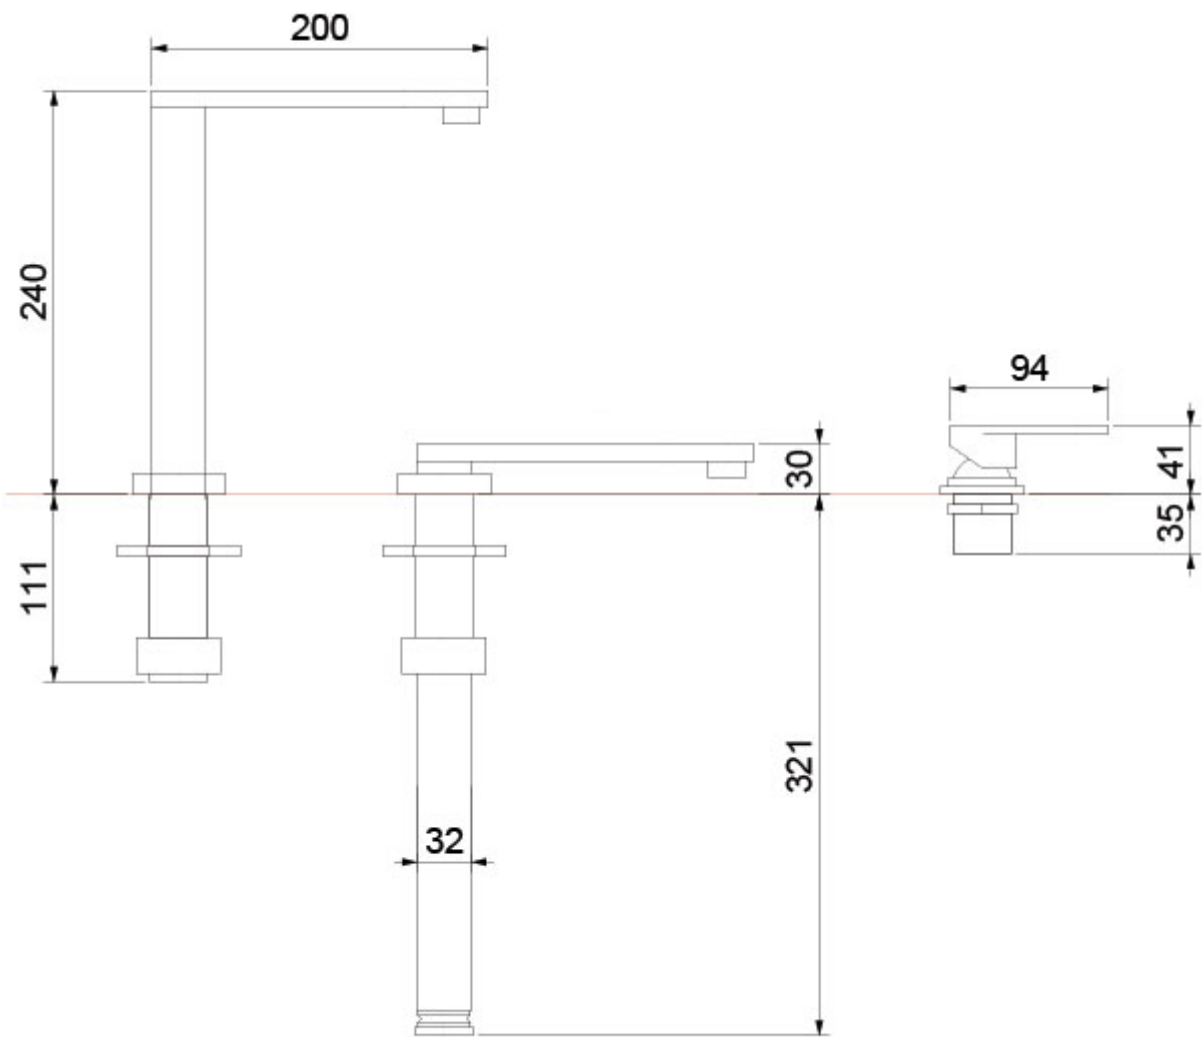

A chrome plated brass pull-up / push-down basin tap & separate mixer

This innovative mixer tap solution is perfect for installations where the tap needs to push down and out of the way when not in use. Often used as a solution for sinks with lids, the tap can be neatly stowed by simply pushing down on the spout. The mixer does not retract, but remains a low profile design.

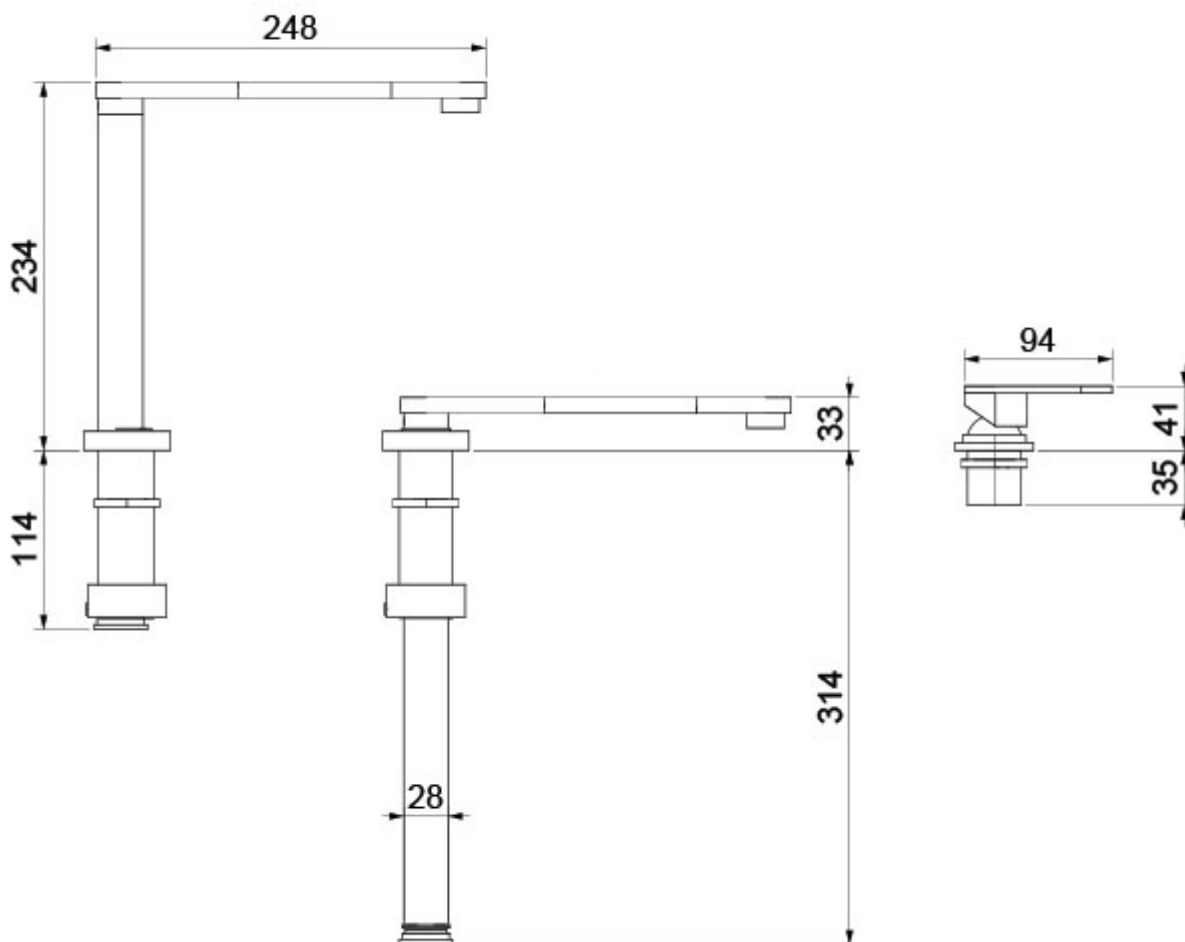

The product is available in two spout lengths, either 200mm long or 248mm long. Both items are sold in a chrome plated finish, other finishes are available on request.
