Short Description

Introducing our '238' solid brass drawer latch designed for concealed installation, a testament to both functionality and elegance. Crafted from marine-grade materials, it boasts an all-brass construction that guarantees unwavering durability, while its chrome-plated finish adds a touch of sophistication to any drawer.

What sets this latch apart is its seamless and hidden design, rendering door knobs or handles unnecessary for a clean, minimalist look. A simple 'push to close' action, akin to a secure slam, ensures effortless operation. For added convenience, it comes complete with a striker plate and is fully compatible with soft-close runners*.

On request this drawer latch can be produced in a 'Chrome Black' or 'Bruniton' finish. Bruniton is a process similar to PVD, where a substance made up of particle of PTFE (Teflon) are bonded onto the surface of a component under high pressure. The finish is very durable and suitable for exterior marine applications (available in matt black only).

*Tested with Blum® soft close runners with excellent compatability results
