Short Description

The Top series of watermakers includes models which are ideal for large vessels where water consumption is high and the watermaker is required to work intensively and constantly. These units owe their reliability to the tried and tested technology used as well as the quality of the components.

The Top series of watermakers, as with the Junior series, are equipped with extremely functional instrumentation and alarm warning systems that inform the user as well as intervene in case of operation issues. These models can also be disassembled into three parts to facilitate installation in areas of restricted space.
