Short Description

The OZ retracting mixer tap is an excellent small space solution. When the tap is not required, it can be easily and quickly pushed down, potentially allowing a lid to cover the sink area. This not only offers a clean and minimalist approach to an interior design layout but also provides the possibility for a multifunctional approach to the installation space. With a 'disappearing' tap, the area can be used for another function.

OZ includes a separate mixer and the required connection hoses for installation. The tap is supplied in a chrome plated finish.
